Railroad Guide.
Passenger trains leave Clarksville as follows: South—7:30 A. M. and 3:15 P. M. North—8:30 A. M. and 4:15 P. M. Accommodation, North—5:30 P. M. South—12:30 P. M. Fast freight, North—3:30 A. M.

Club Rates.
We will furnish the CHRONICLE and the following papers at the prices named below: Nashville Weekly Chronicle and Louisville Weekly Courier-Journal, 25¢; Nashville Weekly Chronicle and Kentucky Gentleman, 40¢; Nashville Weekly Chronicle and Rural Sun, 40¢. All orders must be accompanied by the cash or the papers will not be ordered.

New Advertisements.
H. M. Poston will sell on Monday next at the Market House the Norton farm opposite the city.
R. D. Mosley, County Court Clerk, will sell, on the 28th of December, 1878, the following: See advertisement in another column.
Mr. A. Grant has qualified as Administrator of the estate of David Grant, deceased. The personal property will be sold Dec. 28, 1878.

On our first page will be found the advertisement of Mr. L. Gauchat, watchmaker and jeweler. He is now receiving a handsome stock of jewelry for holiday presents. Persons wishing to make a handsome present to their wife, children or sweetheart would do well to call and see him.
Owen & Moore have opened out their holiday goods in their new store. They have some of the finest and most suitable Christmas presents that were ever brought to the city. Let persons who want to make handsome presents go and examine these goods. For particulars see their advertisement on first page.

CRIMINAL COURT adjourns to-day.
THANKSGIVING DAY was only partially observed by our citizens.

Pork is selling in this city for from three and a half to four cents net.

We give up a good portion of our local space this week to advertisements.

A good buggy and work horse for sale cheap. Call at this office for particulars.

CIRCUIT COURT will be held at Erin, Houston county, next week, Judge Stark presiding.

OUR turkey did not make his appearance on Thanksgiving day. Probably he will be along about Christmas.

It is said that the total number of deaths from yellow fever was 19,921, 4,000 in Memphis and vicinity, and 3,977 at New Orleans.

THE Union City Chronicle, after a temporary suspension, has resumed and comes to our table very much improved.

If every subscriber to the CHRONICLE would get us one new cash subscriber it would materially aid us and them too. Try it.

MR. S. REYNOLDS' new residence on College street is nearly completed, and is one of the prettiest in the city.

THE Catholics of our city will have a Fair for the benefit of their church on the 10th of next month. Their fair is generally a success.

THE Western Methodist, edited and published at Memphis, by Rev. W. C. Johnson, has resumed publication, and we welcome it to our table of exchanges.

REV. W. A. NELSON of Edgfield will preach at the Baptist Church to-morrow (Sunday) at 11 o'clock. The meeting will be protracted during next week.

THE streets are muddy and they are under the management and control of our city fathers. Let them keep things clean and please the people.

JO. MATTHEWS is now located in Elder's row above Caldwell & Shelton's livery stable. He keeps a good stock of confectioneries always on hand.

MADISON street near the Baptist church will need pontoon bridges soon if the City Council don't interfere. We hope attention will be paid to our neglected streets.

SINCE the ordinance arresting tramps as vagrants, has been put into execution, they are becoming very troublesome to the citizens just outside of the corporate limits.

THE line of steamboats between Nashville and Paducah, which will carry the mail, will commence as soon as there is sufficient water on the shoals, which will probably be next week.

THE ladies of the Methodist church will have a bird and oyster supper at the residence of Mrs. Keweenaw on Madison street next Monday evening. Let everybody who loves birds and oysters attend.

WHAT about our new Court House? When will it be finished? We would like to hear from the Commissioners. A word from the contractor would also be interesting and we would like to hear from them.

UNDER Attorney General Burley, there has only been one acquittal this term of the court. All of his judgments have been sustained, though some of them were attacked by our ablest lawyers. He proceeds with vigor and has been eminently successful.

New Establishments.

OWEN & MOORE.

Since the fire in April, Clarksville seems to have suddenly expanded from a substantial village to a handsome city, and our various business establishments have changed their character accordingly. Owen & Moore having now nearly completed the arrangement of their book and drug store, we had the curiosity to inspect the whole establishment, from cellar to attic, under the guidance of their polite and intelligent head clerk, Mr. John Reynolds.

We commenced with the cellar, though it is only at the end next Franklin street that this term gives a correct idea of the large room to which we descended; the back portion, owing to the declivity of the ground, is simply another store, as well lighted as the upper one. The cellar proper is devoted to the storage of coal and the heating apparatus. An immense furnace here furnishes hot air for the warming of the whole establishment. The scale upon which this is done may be inferred from the statement that the air for heating, which is admitted from without through openings under the show window, traverses an air chamber the section of which is five feet by eighteen inches. By the distribution of this air is heated, the whole establishment from the cellar to the third story is kept at a pleasant and equable temperature, nowhere too hot or too cold. The basement store is designed to business transactions with house parties. Here are apparently inexhaustible supplies of paints, oils and window glass, which make you think that the rebuilding of Clarksville is just beginning instead of nearly completed. A striking feature in this department is the three great metallic tanks, containing 250 gallons apiece, filled with spirits of turpentine and linseed oil. These are connected with the store above by siphon tubes, so that a can can be filled from them without going down stairs.

We now ascend to the sale store, a magnificent apartment, with the ceilings beautifully frescoed by the scenic artist, Mr. West, and the walls and windows resplendent with polished walnut and plate glass. Throughout its length of 115 feet this room is occupied with shelving, filled on the west side with the books and stationery and on the east with drugs and medicines. About half way of its length is the prescription case, fitted up with all the minutiae of apparatus for that complicated and delicate business. Just here is the only thing we would like to see altered. The shelving extends across the store and intercepts the light from the back windows. From the great length of the store, the central portion is necessarily imperfectly lighted, and this inconvenience would be in a great measure remedied if the shelves were open behind or backed with glass. Behind the prescription case is the pharmaceutical department, where all the chemical and pharmaceutical operations of a first-class drug store are conducted with the aid of an elaborate and highly finished apparatus.

One story higher we arrive at a long room, the same size as the store, occupied by the supplies of the establishment in the case as they arrive from the jobbers and importers. A special feature in this is the excellent arrangement for the classification of the infinite variety of glass bottles and vials for sale or for use in the house. These are stored in cases along the sides of the wall comparable to nothing but the berths in a steamboat, each compartment being labelled so that any sort of vial can be found at a moment's notice. At one end of this department is the sleeping room of the prescription clerks, a most comfortable-looking room, with only one draw-bell in the form of a vicious-looking bell at the head of the bed, which has a malicious way of waking up the unfortunate prescriptionist at two o'clock in the morning to get somebody a mustard plaster or an ounce of laudanum. They would not be much worse off as married men with a baby in the room.

We have gone to an unconscionable length and have not yet told the half, for there is yet another story over this occupied as a lumber room with empty boxes, packages, etc.

All the different stories are promptly accessible by a patent elevator working through the entire height and depth of the establishment; and, besides the front and back windows, all are lighted with a central sky-light which sends its light through pavements of thick glass all the way down to the cellar. We doubt whether there is as complete an establishment for all the departments of business transacted in it in the State of Tennessee, and let it be stated that the whole business has been established in twelve years by the unaided industry and enterprise of two young men, Messrs. Ben. Owen and John Moore.

We should be doing scant justice if we were to omit mentioning the aid which has been rendered by the excellent business talents and close attention of Mr. John Reynolds, who has been in the employment of the firm ever since its commencement, when he entered the establishment as a boy fresh from school. He and Robert Moore, brother of one of the proprietors, are always prompt, diligent and intelligent in their services behind the counter.

L. GAUCHAT.
M. Gauchat, one of the severest losses by the fire. Several trunks of expensive goods, which were successfully removed from the store when it was on fire, were deposited in Caldwell & Shelton's livery stable, which was at that stage thought to be a place of safety, and when that building caught fire the conflagration progressed so rapidly for their removal. M. G., however, was indomitable, and has now completed his substantial and handsome new building, which includes both his own establishment and that of our respected contemporary, the Tobacco Leaf.

M. Gauchat is now getting in his watches, jewelry and fancy articles, besides being well started in the repairing of watches, which in fact he never discontinued. We have examined his stock of jewelry with much interest, and especially some highly artistic gold work in the way of brooches, lockets, pendants, earrings, etc. It appears that plain gold jewelry has at the present time in a great degree superseded that of precious stones, the difference being made up by the exquisite beauty of the workmanship. Some of the specimens in Gauchat's show-case are worthy the study of an artist; birds, animals, foliage, etc., being produced in the precious metal with wonderful fidelity to nature, and delicacy of manipulation truly marvellous. Recent discoveries of ancient gold and silver work in Cyprus, on the site of ancient Troy, in Southern Greece and in Assyria have stimulated a return to antique styles, and as a consequence originality and beauty of design are superadded to consummate workmanship. Ladies and purchasers of Christmas goods and wedding presents will do well to call; they will find in Mr. Gauchat a well-informed gentleman of great skill in his trade, and courteous in manner. We can personally commend his skill in the regulation and repair of watches.

THE Cooking Club Wednesday was a glorious success, and all in all the most enjoyable social event of the season. Lack of space forbids a minute description of all the elegant tables, and out of a large number we select the following as representatives of the fairy cooks.

Miss Ensey of Memphis wore velvet colored silk, a la prince, trimmed with lavender silk; diamond ornaments.

Miss Rentsch appeared in black cashmere, princeps.

Miss Marge Smith wore a handsome dress of black silk; diamond ornaments.

Miss Whitlock, of Hopkinsville, lavender silk; point-lace overdress; Pearl ornaments.

Miss Nannie Smith, white tulle; blue silk trimmings.

Miss Laura Beaumont, tan silk and grenadine, combined with black velvet.

Miss Letta Robb, black silk and grenadine, princeps; diamond ornaments.

Miss Mary Macrae, bronze silk, princeps; white overdress.

THE Public School Committee have named the new and slightly building now rapidly nearing completion, "the Howell Building," in honor of Mr. A. Howell, Cashier of the Bank of Clarksville. Between the second and third stories is a marblestone bearing the inscription, "Howell." This is indeed a compliment to a worthy man. When Mr. H. took charge of the school business they were in a perfect state of confusion, and he went to work and brought order out of chaos, and the Public Schools are now in a prosperous condition.

TAX-PAYERS who indulge in the hope that the present Trustee will be more lenient than his predecessor will be mistaken. He is compelled to go according to law, and we know he will do it. The taxes for 1878 have been due since the first of October, and unless they are paid in a few weeks the four per cent. penalty will be added. The county is in need of the money and every one owing taxes should exert himself to pay it as soon as possible.

We regret to learn of the death of Willis, a little son about six years of age of Mrs. Sue Arnsbald sister of Mr. Geo. R. Harris, of this city, which occurred at Dancyville, Haywood county, West Tennessee, about ten days ago. It seems that the little fellow was playing in the cotton house and bursted down in the cotton so deep that he died from suffocation. When he was discovered his mouth, ears and nose were full of cotton and he was quite dead.

CRIMINAL COURT, November Term, 1878.

The Grand Jury have found indictments to be returned in 35 cases—21 felonies and 14 misdemeanors.
State vs. Pat. and Bridget Lynch. Trial. Verdict of jury, not guilty. An appeal. The witness "memory wouldn't go back" on defendants. The Court sent him to jail by way of refreshment, but his taste for music saved him, and he is again at liberty.
Bob Hall (colored). Arson. Jury, verdict not guilty.
Class. Carnell (colored). Grand larceny. Jury, verdict guilty. Three years in penitentiary. Appeal.
Bollinger and Murdock. Continued by Attorney-General. Fixed for trial on Wednesday of the first week of next term.
Henry Wadell (colored). Petit larceny. Jury, verdict guilty. Five months in jail.
Levi Wimerley (colored). Assault and battery with intent to kill. Jury, verdict guilty. Five years in penitentiary. New trial granted.
Spencer Coleman (colored). Assault and battery with intent to kill. Jury, verdict guilty of assault and battery. Fined $20 and cost.
Carroll Walker (colored). Continued.
Charles Wardell (colored). Bringing stolen goods into this State and selling and battery with intent to commit murder. Continued.
Rubber and Robert Gorton. Assault and battery. Jury, verdict not guilty. Prosecutor taxed with costs.
Geo. Burnett (colored). Horse stealing. Jury, verdict guilty. Fifteen years in penitentiary. Motion for new trial pending.
Pugh Haynes. Continued by Attorney-General on account of the absence of witnesses.
W. C. Gossett. False pretense. Indictment quashed.
Sam. Berry (colored). Jury, verdict guilty of an assault. Fined one cent and cost.
Allen Johnson (colored). Carrying pistol. Fined guilty. Fined one cent and cost.
Wm. Moore (colored). Plead guilty of stealing a Bible and hymn book. Two years in penitentiary.
Tom Wenzler and Jas. Henratty. Guilty of tipping on Sunday. Motion for new trial on the ground that the attorneys were not allowed to exercise the election franchise. Another case of "balldom."

Archie Johnson (colored). Murder. Continued; set for trial on Thursday after fourth Monday in January.
Milan Chestman. Assault and battery with intent to kill. The witnesses could not agree whether the prosecutor was struck on the right side under the left arm, or on the left side under the right arm. The jury agreed for the defendant to "git," and he "got."

A special term of this court will be held on the third Monday in December, in order, if possible, to clear the jail.

SERVICE was held at the Methodist Church on Thanksgiving day. The sermon was preached by Rev. A. D. Sears.

OUR friend Billy Bringham has been endeavoring this week to get up subscriptions to have Franklin street lit up with gas from the Methodist Church to the Franklin House. We are glad to learn that he will probably succeed. We hope the project will succeed and thus save some poor fellow from having his neck broken.

We clip the following notice of Rev. John T. Duncan, brother of Rev. T. J. Duncan, from the Palatka (Florida) Herald, of the 23d inst.:
Rev. J. T. Duncan, has been appointed to the St. James Methodist Church, in this place, and will preach to-morrow at 11 a. m. and at night. Mr. Duncan is a Tennesseean, and is a graduate of the Vanderbilt University. He is known to be a faithful energetic man.

Why is it that you suffer with Corns, when fifty cents will buy a remedy guaranteed to cure? Remember, no cure no pay. FOWEN & MOORE, meek-25

KEESSE & NORTHINGTON have just received a fresh lot of Dry Hop Yeast. If you want fine bread, try it.

"Out of the Fire and Come to Stay"
The largest and best assortment of Harness, Saddles, Brides, Whips, Blankets, Lap Robes and everything constituting a first class Saddle and Harness establishment now on hand and will be constantly kept. Call and see me at my old stand on Franklin street and be satisfied for yourself.

M. L. JOSLIN, Agent.
Nov. 2, 1878-3m.

Not to Value.
For a wise purpose, do the immense forests of the Buckeye receive the gentle ministry of the dews, the sunshine and rain, for the fruit they yield is highly valued by its medical properties, which have been combined with other materials, and a pile of ointment prepared which surpasses anything ever offered the public as a cure for Hemorrhoids, or Piles. All who suffer with this terrible disease can find permanent relief by using Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment, the only unfailing remedy for Piles. Sold by Owen & Moore Druggists at 50 cents a bottle. Ask for Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment.

BARGAINS in Boots and Shoes at Cheap John's Store, New Providence, Tenn.

One Machine as Good as Another.
This is a mistaken idea. It is better to buy goods from an established firm than to risk money in a doubtful experiment. To the merits of the Singer the best argument is the fact that there are several imitations of it. If other machines are as good, why are they not imitated? The thoughtful purchaser will think of this. What is home without a Singer?

MARRIED.
WEBB-HARRIS—At the residence of the bride, father of the bride, on Nov. 28, 1878, by Rev. R. C. Brown, Mr. R. W. Harris and Miss ELLA M. FOWLER, daughter of their friend Geo. R. Harris.

In company with quite a number of friends and neighbors, had the pleasure of witnessing the beautiful and impressive ceremony. Mr. Webb has won for his bride an accomplished and refined lady who will nobly stand by him in the duties of this life. Soon after the ceremony the happy pair left for the home of the groom in Todd county, Ky. We wish the newly-wedded couple all the happiness this world affords, and a blessed immortality in the world to come.
